

David Seaman, Dean of Libraries and University Librarian

Message from the Dean

This year the Libraries developed a new Strategic Plan, in alignment with the University's Academic Strategic Plan. Beginning in the Spring 2022, we reviewed our 2018-2022 strategic plan. We sought feedback on our strengths and aspirations from the Libraries' staff and held a strategic planning retreat with the Libraries Management Team.

The Libraries has four functional pillars - knowledge creation, knowledge distribution, knowledge stewardship and knowledge communities - with two common foundations that span all functions: diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility (DEIA), and infrastructure.

With these common purposes in mind, Libraries staff participated in the University's feedback sessions in Fall 2022, and we gathered input from staff and other key stakeholders via meetings and listening sessions. An initial draft of the Libraries' strategic plan was shared with staff in Spring 2023, and further feedback was received resulting in the final plan in Fall 2023.

All of the outcomes in this report support the Libraries' strategic functions. As we work to implement our new strategic plan, we will continue to identify ways to measure both outcomes and the impact of our work. We look forward to sharing that progress with you in the future.

Sincerely,

David Seaman
